

Building Social Connections Using Technology

Debra Shumard
Director

Erin Byrn.
Associate
Program Coordinator

Emily Kamwesa
Program Coordinator

Molly Weisel
Program Coordinator

- Do the participants in your program need support using technology?
- Is it challenging to help participants connect safely to others online?
- Do you need ideas for assisting participants who are navigating social media, online gaming, or online dating?

If you answered YES to any of the questions above, you are not alone and we are here to help! Building social connections may be challenging for anyone, and more challenging without technology skills. With the help of DSPs, participants of ADS and Voc Hab programs may learn how to meaningfully connect with family, friends, and community, while also effectively meeting outcomes. The team from Step Up to Social Connection is working to help support participants in the following technological and social areas:

- Basic computer skills
- Technology accessibility
- Digital citizenship
- Online scam safety
- Cyberbullying
- Social media safety
- Connecting with friends
- Online gaming and sports
- Apps for health and wellness
- Exploring online dating

Would you like to continue the conversation?

Email debra@dayproviders.com
OR scan the QR code:

